

Ecography

ECOG-04064

Baudier, K. M., D'Amelio, C. L., Sulger, E., O'Connor, M. P. and O'Donnell, S. 2019. Plastic collective endothermy in a complex animal society (army ant bivouacs: Eciton burchellii parvispinum). – Ecography doi: 10.1111/ecog.04064

Supplementary material

Appendix 1

Figure A1. Brood developmental cycle showing shifts in colony phases (nomadic versus statary) for Eciton burchellii; illustration by Kaitlin M. Baudier

Figure A2. Photo of a colony of Eciton burchellii parvispinum in the early stages of forming an aboveground, sheltered bivouac in Monteverde, Costa Rica; photo credit Kaitlin M. Baudier